THE FIRE LAST NIGHT .- The slarm of fire last night about eleven o'clock was caused by the burning of an unoccupied two story brick dwelling on Wilkes street, between Lee and Fairfax, owned by Maxwell McCracken. The fire department was quickly on the ground and succeeded in not only partially saving the burning building, but the four frame houses adoining, notwithstanding the wind was blowing in a faverable direction fer a general conflagration. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. It broke out in the cellar, and the inside of the house was damaged considerably. When discovered the fire had made its way out of the house in which it originated, and the frame dwelling adjoining on the east would have soon been in flames but for the well directed afforts of the firemen and neighbors. A tin can, marked B. & O. R. R, containing coal oil, a bottle in which had been the same, and a hatchet. used for the purpose of splitting kindling wood. were found in the scennd story of the house, and a further examination revealed the fact that the inconding had saturated the floor of the second story with coal oil, placed inflamable material under the stairs leading to the garret, and then went down the cellar and started the fire under the floor of the centre room, expecting to totally destroy the house, which purpose was only prevented by the early discovery of the flames.— The neighbors stated that a noise was heard in the house a little before the fire occurred, and a man was seen coming cut of the alley, but who he was they were unable to make out, The finding of the can marked B. & O. R. R., for which company the owner of the property works, and the feet that, notwithstanding he lives in the Third ward, he was in the First word last night, caused suspicion to rest upon him: but in a conversation with Mr. McCracken this morning he stated that the em found belonged to him; that he had placed it, along with other cans, in which he kept oil and paints, in the see and story of the house for safe keeping; the presence of coal cil he cannot account for, only on the ground that the incendiary brought it with him. Among the first and most active workers at the fire last night was a tramp, and it may be that he was the guilty party, but the residents of the neighborhood are not inclined to place the crime on him, as there would have been no motive, unless employed by some one else. The house, which was damaged to the extent of about $150, was insured in the West chester Fire Insurance Company, of New York, for $1,000, of which Messrs, S. H. Janney & fon are the agents in this cay.

SERIOUS Accident .- Vesterday morning early George Arrington and his brother. Thos. Arrington, started on a guarting expedition in s sail boat from Jones' Point, and, after being out in the river for sometime, George left the sad boat, in a skifl, with two guns. Heating cases for help proceeding from the skifl, Thomas Arrington, who was in the sail boat, some distarce off, went to his brother's relief, and found him lying in the skiff with a terrible sound in his bg. It appears that George Ar conston, who is a young man, in drawing on ann toward him, struck the hammer of the other, which was Ling with its muzzle in the ame direction, when it exploded, the entire mitents of which was lodged in his leg, just shove the knee. He was trought to his home, on Orcene street, between Lee and Fairfax, from the scene of the are dent, just below the Point, and Dr. E. C. Powell sent for, who exmemediately, amoutating the wounded limb above the knee. The wounded man this evening was doing as well as could be expected, and it is thought he will recover. The wounded man has a large red birth mark on his cheek
